NEWS FROM THE EUROPEAN CAPITALS

LONDON, Nov. 2.-The express train from Edinburgh ran into a freight train heavily laden with iron this morning, near Thirsk, in Yorkshire. The result is many persons killed and a large number injured. The ceaches caught fire and were destroyed. The lastest news is that more bodies have been found in the wreckage. It is certain that 13 persons were killed.

The accident is said to have been due to a dense fog which prevented the engineer of the express train from seeing ahead for any distance, but the passengers say a signal man had fallen asleep.

The Marquis of Tweeddale and the Marquis of Huntley, the latter a Lord-in-waiting to Queen Victoria, were on board the train. The Marquis of Tweeddale escaped uninjured, and although an elderly gentleman, he did active service in assisting to rescue others. The Marquis of Huntley was bruised and had a thumb broken, but suffered no other injury. Captain Duncan McLeod, of the Forty-second Highlanders, is among the killed.

A Nobleman's Account of It.

In an interview, the Marquis of Tweeddale said that at the time of the accident the express train was traveling 60 miles an hour. The freight train was going slow. If it had been stationary the results of the collision, in view of the enormous weight and power of resistance, would have been far more serious. The shock was severe, smashing the engine and tender of the express train and the carriage next to them, but the parlor car, in which the Marquis of Tweeddale and the Marquis of Huntley were sitting withstood the shock, although its for-ward end was knocked off. The passengers in the parlor coach were all asleep when the collision occurred. It was a marvel that they all escaped as well as they did.

Among the killed are the driver of the freight train and the fireman of the express train. The thighs of the driver of the express train were smashed. The Marquis added that the people in the Pullman were pretty thoroughly irightened when they were awakened by the crash. When they got out they found themselves amid a terrible wreck. The engine and tender were doubled back upon the first carriage and the Pulanan car forming one heap, which took fire from the red hot coals from the engine furnace. The carriage behind the Pullman car was broken.

Met Death in Pitch Dark.

The accident occurred at 3:50, and the night was pitch dark. The Marquis said he saw several of those who had been killed lying by the rails. The bodies he saw were less mutilated than might have been expected, considering the bad nature of the wreck. He saw the body of a man terribly mangied, crushed under the Pullman cosch. A rescuing party was trying to extricate the body when the Marquis left.

Besides the Marquis of Tweeddale and the Marquis of Huntley there were in the Pullman coach General Lambton and Mr. Kynoch, a railway director. Lady Stewart was in another carriage. All got a severe shaking up. The Marquis of Tweeddale, together with the Marquis of Huntley and a number of other passengers, came from the wreck on a special train. The Marquis of Huntley got off the train at Peterbor ough. He seemed to feel more severely than the others the effects of the shock. The Marquis of Tweeddale came direct to

The Pullman Proves Its Strength.

The official report of the killed places the number at ten. The signal man, who was charged with being asleep at his post, has been suspended from duty pending an investigation. The escape of the occupants of the wrecked Pullman car was little short of miraculous. The wheels were torn off, but the body of the coach stood the crash with but little damage.
Pinioned beneath the huge engine the rescuing party saw a woman. She was in great agony and screaming for help. They were powerless to help her. Before their eyes flames enveloped her, and she was burned to death and her body reduced to ashes. The distracted husband of the poor victim appealed pitcously to the would-be helpers to save his wife. One passenger says that he awoke suddenly with vague torebodings of evil, and gave his valuables to his wife. Immediately after the crash came, and both were thrown beneath the carriage and badly injured.

The fire burned fiercely until noon, when the flames were gotten under control. The occupants of one carriage were imprisoned by debris and were in great peril. They could see the flames slowly approaching, and suf-fered from the increasing heat. Terrified beyond measure, they shrieked continually for help. They were rescued from their horrible position in the nick of time. engineer of the express train, himself badly injured and held down by the debris, im plored the rescuers to save the passengers

DEACON WINS AGAIN.

His Wife's Petition for a Divorce Dismissed With a Reprimand.

PARIS, Nov. 2.-Mrs. Deacon was defeated in her bill on her husband for a divorce. Mr. Deacon was on hand when the case came up and confronted his wife in the tribunal of the Seine.

The President of the tribunal not only dismissed Mrs. Deacon's petition, but severely censured her for having made trivolous charges against her husband with the object of procuring a divorce while her-self under charges of the gravest character. The Court gave orders that the child, now in a convent where it had been placed by Mrs. Deacon, should be delivered to Mr. Deacon. The latter position of the Court's decree was a crushing blow for Mrs. Deacon, who seemed deeply affected and looked appealingly at her husband. It was all the appealingly at her husband. It was more crushing because entirely unexpected, as Mrs. Descon had supposed that would be done would be to the most that would be done would be to dismiss the case and leave the whole issue to be decided at Aix.

AMERICAN ARMOR PLATE

Tested in England and Found to Be Better Than Any Other.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—The admiralty has made at Portsmouth a thorough test of armor plates made by the Harvey system, with very encouraging results. Eminent naval officers were present, and Messrs. Fox and Dickinson represented the Harvey Company, of New York.

The plates stood the shock of the heavy projectiles remarkably well. Not a crack was produced-an unprecedented result in armor experiments here. The tests completely verified the American reports of previous tests conducted by the United States Government, and established the success of the Harvey hardening pro-cess. This is the first test in Europe, though Russia is also prenaring for a test. Further trials will be made at Portsmouth, tests being made of thinner plates with a view to refitting obselete clads.

LABBY PROPOSES CONFISCATION.

The Liberal Journalist's Solution of th English Agricultural Problem. LONDON, Nov. 2 .- In the issue of Truth to-day, Henry Labouchere proposes on herole remedy for the depression in the agricultural industry in Great Britain. He says that he would allow every parish to appropriate the land of non-occupying owners, giving them a fair price therefore in village bonds. The lands thus acquired should be let to tenants by the parish.

No such bold scheme as confiscation has ever been propounded by other leading pol-iticians as a settlement of the difficulty.

STRAIGHT STAGE TIPS.

THE three great acting dogs, "Tiger," 'Lion" and "Spot," will appear with the Leonzo Brothers in "Avenged" at the World's Museum-Theater next week. "The Blacksmith's Revenge" is doing a nice busi-ness there this week.

NEXT week the favorite sensational play, The Waifs of New York," will be presented at Harris' Theater. The company is composed of good dramatic and specialty peo-ple, and the scenic and mechanical effects are marvels of stage realism.

THE usual great crowds are again to be seen at Harry Davis' popular house. The man with the magnetic hair excites a great deal of comment and the variety show makes everybody laugh. Mr. Davis' comic opera company will go out next week.

Is "The Police Patrol," which comes to the Grand Opera House next week, the pa trol wagon, the horses and the men using it are said to be the genuine thing, fresh trop Chicago, and the story told in the play is based on actual occurrences. The drama is described by a friendly writer as a "simple but a connected story of police life, illus-trating the various localities of the great city." Its mounting is or the most liberal

RICHARD MANSFIELD will help to alieviate the sufferings of the public in their political afflictions next week. He comes to the Alvin Theater next week with several of the plays he has made familiar here, and at least one considerable novelty, "The Scarlet Letter." "Beau Brummell" is announced for three performances, and "The Scarlet Lefter" for but one. This seems unwise, for unless we are mistaken the new play will be most in are mistaken the new play will be most in demand, despite the popularity of the pitiful story of the "King of Fops." The repertoire is arranged as follows: Monday, "Beau Brummell;" Tuesday, "The Scarlet Letter;" Wednesday, "A Parisian Romance;" Thursday, "Nero," another novelty by the way; Friday night and Saturday matinee, "Beau Brummell," and Saturday night, "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde."

CARROLL JOHNSON, a comedian of the Scanlan school, and one who is thought by some to be the best in his line before the public to-day, will be at the Duquesne Theater next week. He will present Edward E. Kidder's Irish play, "The Gossoon." and both play and star's performance at the same theater last season is still fresh in the pub-lic's memory. Last year Mr. Johnson came without much heralding of trumpets, and he jumped into public favor with rapidity. "The Gossoon" has no pikes, no mortgages, no lost wills, no caricatures of the clergy and no in ormer, but it has the Lakes of and no informer, but it has the Lakes of Killarney in summer, the Lakes of Killarney in winter, the home of the Gossom, the open country by moonlight and the unroof-ing of the cabin, one of the most startling effects, it is said, ever presented anywhere. The scenery and mechanical devices are by the well-known genius, George Purvis. Mr. Johnson has a number of new songs, and is the well-known genius, George Purvis. Mr. Johnson has a number of new songs, and is said to be as graceful and amusing, as manly and as handsome, as he was. SCHWATKA IS DEAD

TAKEN PROBABLY AS A MEDICINE.

Found Lying on the Street at Portland, Ure., in a State of Coma.

HIS PLACE IN FAR NORTHERN HISTORY

PORTLAND, ORE., Nov. 2.-Lieutenant Frederick G. Schwatks, who made his name tamous the world over by commanding the expedition to the Arctic region in search of the records of the Sir John Franklin parcy, is dead. The Lieutenant was found by an officer at 3 o'clock this morning, lying on First street. By his side was a bottle of laudanum half empty. He was in a comatose condition, and was immediately removed to the St. Charles Hotel, where he was placed in a chair.

The supposition at first was that the Lieutenant was intoxicated, but, as his condition grew alarming at the end of an hour, a patrol wagon was called and the sick man was taken to the city jail. A messenger brought the City Physician, who discovered that the Lieutenant was suffering from what appeared to be narcotic poisoning. From the jail the Lieutenant was immediately sent to the Good Samaritan Hospital, where everything was done for him, but in vain, as he died at 5 o'clock this morning. Why He Had Taken the Drug.

Lieutenant Sewhatka had been suffering from a complication of troubles, and he had shown symptoms of apoplexy on several occasions. His stomach had given him much trouble recently, and for the purpose of finding relief he used small quantities of laudanum, usually taking from 15 to 20 drops. Last evening his stomach trouple came on with such severity that he complained bitterly and sought relief. Going to a drugstore he asked for two ounces of laudanum. The druggist asked him if he had a prescription. He replied that he had not, but as he was a graduate of a medical college he would write one. The druggist replied that it was not necessary, and gave Lieutenant Schwatka the drug. He went away, and after visiting a political club he was not seen after 9 o'clock until picked up on the street. Dr. Nicklin, an intimate friend of the deceased, said:

"The Lieutenant and myself took dinner last evening together, and I left him about 7 o'clock. He was in his usual jovial mood, but complained some about the pain in his stomach. His prospects were very encour-aging, and he expected soon to perfect arrangements for going to Mexico, where he had a gigantic scheme with some Mexican land company. He was also very enthusias-tic about his plan for having the Govern-ment make a national park of Mount Hood. He seemed to feel highly encouraged, and believed all of his plans would materialize."

The Famous Navigator's Career. Frederick Schwatka was born in Galena, Ill., on the 29th of September, 1849. He entered early upon his military career, and after having graduated from the United States Military Academy in 1871, he was ap-pointed Second Lieutenaut in the Third Cavalry, and served on garrison and frontier duty entil 1877. During his life in the ranks he devoted considerable time to the study of law and medicine, and was admitted to the bar of Nebraska in 1875. He also received a medical degree at Bellevue Hospital Medical College, New York, in

On hearing the story of Captain Thomas F. Barry, who, while on a whaling expedi-tion in Repulse Bay in 1871-73, was visited by Esquimaux, who described strangers that had traveled through that region several venrs before, and who had buried papers in a cavern, where silver spoons and many other relies had been found, Lieutenant Schwatka determined to search for traces of Sir John Franklin's party. Subsequently he obtained leave of absence and started to fit out an expedition.

On June 19, 1878, accompanied by Will-iam H. Gilder as second in command, he sailed in the "Eathen" for King William's Land. The expedition was partly success ful and returned on September 22, 1880, having discovered and buried many of the skeletons of Sir John Franklin's party, and removed much of the mystery surrounding Interesting Records Uncarthed by Schwatka Among the many interesting relies found was the grave of Lieutenant John Irving, who was third officer of the Terror and in addition to that also a paper, a copy of the Crozier record that was found in 1859 by Lieutenant William R. Hobson, of Sir Leopold McClintock's expedition. paper contained two records, the latter, under the date of April 25, 1848, stating the death of Sir John Franklin on June 7, 1847. A notable feature of this expedition was that it was marked by the longest sledge journey on record, namely, 3,251 statute miles, during which a branch of Back's river was discovered, which Lieutenant Schwatka named for President Hayes.

Schwatka made several minor trips, during which he explored the course of the Yukon river in Alaska. In July, 1884, he rejoined his regiment. A month after he resigned his commission of First Lieutenant, Third Cavalry, to which he had been appointed in March, 1879.

Among his later expeditions was the most famous, the one he led for the New York Times to Alaska in 1886. He was the recipient of many honors and distinctions, having been decorated with the Roquette Arctic medal from the Geographical ciety of Paris, and a Russian medal from the Imperial Geographical Society of St. Petersburg. He was also an honorary member of geographical societies in Bremen, Geneva and Rome. Among the many works he wrote the most well known are: "Along Alaska's Great River," "Nimrod in the North," Great River," "Nimrod in the North,"

"The Franklin Search Under Lieutenant Schwatka," and one in German also, "Als Eskimo Unter den Eskimo."

The Amount of Paper and Metallic Currency in Circulation-Average Price of Silver Only 72 Cents on the Dollar-The Mint Report.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.-E. O. Leech, Director of the Mint, has submitted to the Secretary of the Treasury a report of the operations of the mints and assay offices of the United States for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1892. The value of the gold deposited at the mints and assay offices during the year was $66,476,975. Of the original deposits $331,961,546 were the product of our own mines, $24,935,342 foreign gold coin and bullion, $557,968 lightweight demestic gold coin and $3,636,604 old material. The coinage of the mints during the last fical .year aggregated 113,556,124 pieces, valued as follows: Gold, $35,506,987; silver dollars. $8,329.468; subsidiary silver, $6,659,812; minor coins, $1,296,710. Total value, $51,792,976.

The total amount of silver purchased during the year aggregated 54,355,756 fine ounces, costing $51,106,608, at an average cost of 94 cents per fine ounce. Since July 1, 1892, the average price has been $0.724. By the recoinage of uncurrent coins in the Treasury, principally half dollars, into new quarter dollars and dimes, for which hew quarter dollars and dimes, for which there was an urgent demand, the Treasury has been relieved of a large unavailable asset, and the small change of the country increased to a corresponding extent. The total exports of gold from the United States during the fiscal year show as net loss of $142,654. The exports of silver show a net loss of $5,035,828. The net profit of earnings of the mints over ex-penditures was $793,794.

The stock of gold and silver in the United States November 1, 1892, was approximately: Gold, $656,041,863; silver, $587,614,951; total, $1,243,656,814. The amount of money in actual circulation, outside of treasury vaults, including paper and metallic, was $1,606,139,735, or $24 34

THREE BUTLER WELLS.

M'DONALD GOES STILL LOWER. Jennings & Co.'s Myers Farm Well Near

NEWS FROM SISTERSVILLE FIELD

Undercliff is a Buster.

Four wells were drilled through the sand yesterday where oil was expected and all of them were northwest of Pittsburg, three of them in Butler and one in Allegheny county. No new wells were reported in the

McDonald or Sistersville fields. The estimated production of the McDonald pool fell to 17,500 barrels, which is lower than it has been since it reached the keystone of its output, one year ago this month. Unless the wells now producing in that field hold up much better than the average

Donald district did, there is a strong proba-bility that the downward course of the production may be very rapid.

Wildwood and Washington dropped like a crow to a cornfield, when they began to go down, and McDonald can scarcely be rated

fifth sanders and the first crop in the Mc as an exception. It was a remarkable field on the up grade, but its big wells declined faster in proportion to their size than those in many other places where they did not start off so big.

About the only part of the field in which there is much interest at present is in the extreme northeastern part of what was originally known as the McCurdy district. There the big well of the Forest Oil Com-pany on the Clever farm has aroused considerable activity, and a dozen wells are now being drilled on the strength of it. In other parts of the field few new wells are big turns up.

Around Venice a number of fourth sanders are being put down, and few wells in that locality have failed to get either oil or being started or will be unless something

Three Butler County Producers. The Butler county wells which were finished up yesterday belong to Schlegel, Lentz & Co. Two them are in what is known as the Garvin pool located five miles south of Evans City. This pool was opened over a year ago by Schiegel, Lentz & Co. who drilled the first good well in the pool. It is on the Ben Garvin farm. Their No. 2 on the Ben Garvin farm has been finished up and is good for 100 barrels a day, and their No. 1 on the Gardner farm will make about a 75 barrel well. In the will make about a 75-barrel well. In the same locality they are starting a well on

Two miles south of Brownsdale they have completed their No. 2 on the Critch-low farm, and it is good for 75 barrels a day. They are also rigging up on the Dun-bar farm, a mile south of the Critchlow, and also at No. 2 in the Gardner, in the Garvin pool. Jennings & Co.'s well on the Myers farm, which is located a mile northeast of Patterson & Sohn's Kessler farm producer. was yesterday drilled through the third sand, or rather where it should have been, and was pronounced a rank failure. Progress of McDonald Ventures. McDonald-Schlegel, Lentz & Co. are in the 100-foot at their No. 2 on the Walker farm, in the Fife pool.

The Devonian Oil Company expected a well in on Wittengale, and one on the El-liott yesterday, but they were disappointed. Bettman & Watson will have a couple in on the Wittengale the last of this or the first of next week.

The Florence Oil Company's No. 6 on the Robb heirs' farm, south of Wiliow Grove, will make about 150 barrels a day from the Gordon sand. They are starting No. 2 on the Miller farm, south of the Meise In the northwestern McCurdy district

Robison & Stewart are down 1,200 feet in No. 3 McCoy and 950 feet in No. 4 on the same farm. Fini SISTERSVILLE-Brenneman & Co. were outting the last casing in their well on the Clark farm yesterday. It is located just north of the Keener heirs' property.

The Forsythe Oil Company is on top of the sand in No. 7 on the Thistle farm and they are rigging up at No. 10.

The Greenlee and Forst Sale. The announcement of the sale of a por tion of Greenlee & Forst's property in the McDonald field to the Tidal Oil Company for from $350,000 to $400,000 occasioned very little comment yesterday as the deal has been hanging fire for months, and it was known to all the oil operators, that negotia-tions for the sale of the prop-erty were on foot. It seemed to be the general impression, however, that more than the amount named would be realized, for taking the production sold as $400,000, it gives only $133 33 per barrel, which is considered a low figure even at the present market price of oil.

The Gauges Wednesday. The production of McDonald was 17,500
